

Single Sign-On: A Developer's Introduction To Active Directory Federation Services

Contributed by

Tuesday, 17 October 2006

Last Updated Monday, 06 November 2006

Use Active Directory Federation Services to allow other organizations to use your Web applications without the need for you to grant access to their users individually.

Use Active Directory Federation Services to allow other organizations to use your Web applications without the need for you to grant access to their users individually.

Read more at: <http://msdn.microsoft.com/msdnmag/issues/06/11/SingleSignIn/default.aspx>.