

3-tier Architecture with ASP.NET 2.0: Tutorial 3: Master Pages and Site Navigation (Visual C#)

Contributed by
Friday, 29 September 2006
Last Updated Monday, 06 November 2006

With the site map defined and the master page complete, we now have a consistent page layout and navigation scheme for our data-related tutorials. Now updating the site-wide page layout or site navigation information is a quick and simple process.

With the site map defined and the master page complete, we now have a consistent page layout and navigation scheme for our data-related tutorials. Now updating the site-wide page layout or site navigation information is a quick and simple process.

Read more at: http://msdn.microsoft.com/library/en-us/dnaspnettut/html/aspnet_tutorial03_masterpagesandsitenav_cs.asp.